

African Studies Minor

University of California, San Diego
Declaration of Intent

African Studies is an interdisciplinary minor that covers African topics through a coordinated set of courses offered in the Departments of Anthropology, Communication, Ethnic Studies, History, Literature, Music, Political Science, Sociology, Theatre Arts, and Visual Arts. In addition to the offerings at UCSD, opportunities for further study in Africa and Europe are available through the University of California Education Abroad Program and the UCSD Opportunities Abroad Program. Students develop a broad background in African histories, societies, cultures and politics. A minor in African Studies signals a candidate with a strong global perspective and offers a competitive edge in career and academic possibilities.

Bennetta Jules-Rosette, Director

List courses already taken in African Studies

Date: _____

Name: _____

Telephone: _____

E-Mail: _____

Campus Address: _____

Permanent Address: _____

Major and year (freshman, sophomore, junior, senior):

When do you expect to graduate? (i.e., Spring, 2014)?

What languages have you studied/speak/read/write?

Describe your reasons for becoming an African Studies Minor.

Have you traveled to Africa? Through the Education Abroad Program (EAP)? _____

Would you like EAP information? _____

Are you interested in having one of the African Studies Faculty as an advisor? Yes, Professor Bennetta Jules-Rosette
